SPD liegt falsch bei Inklusion

FDP-Saar-Generalsecretary Nathalie Zimmer sees the plans of SPD Education Minister Ulrich Commerçon as incomplete and insensitive regarding questions of inclusion. The liberal state association welcomed that the Saarland Teachers' and Teachers' Association (SLLV) "has the courage" to criticize Ulrich's initiative for the UN Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities.

Inclusion cannot mean, in the "Hauruck-System" children with need for support as quickly as possible out of the special school and into the regular school", clarified Zimmer. Feedback from this practice finally revealed open problems, explained the FDP General Secretary.

"It is clear that the UN Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities poses new challenges in the area of common education", emphasized Zimmer. The FDP Saar supports the implementation of the Convention. However, this can only be done under certain conditions, such as the corresponding training of teachers, a sufficient provision of deputy hours and suitable personnel and the special equipment of schools, not to be realized. "The SLLV puts its finger on the wound", stressed the Liberals.

Therefore, the Saar Liberals demanded of the Education Minister to give pragmatic considerations priority over ideology-driven positions. "The well-being of children requires a sensible approach to the problem and a financially adequate provision", she made clear. In addition, she demanded that the state must bear the additional administrative and personnel burdens in the future.
